Witness architectural remnants dating from the 7th to 13th centuries.

Gain insights into a significant archaeological complex in Southeast Asia.

About My Son Sanctuary

My Son served as the religious and political capital of the Champa Kingdom from the 4th to the 13th centuries. The complex originally housed over 70 structures, with remnants of 25 still standing today. These red brick temples and towers are dedicated to Shiva and other Hindu deities, showcasing a unique blend of indigenous Cham artistic styles and Indian influences. Often compared to other grand archaeological sites such as Angkor Wat in Cambodia, Bagan in Myanmar, and Borobudur in Indonesia, My Son stands as a testament to the Cham people's advanced engineering and artistic skills.

Who is this tour suitable for?

This half-day excursion is perfect for all travelers interested in history, culture, and ancient civilizations. Its manageable duration makes it an excellent addition to any Hoi An itinerary, offering a deep dive into Vietnam's past without consuming an entire day. Families, couples, and solo adventurers will appreciate the insightful guided experience and the chance to explore a truly unique historical landscape.

Practical Information

Your tour includes comfortable private car transfers and the expertise of an English-speaking guide who will enrich your visit with historical context and fascinating stories. Entrance fees to the sanctuary are also covered, ensuring a hassle-free experience. Please note that personal expenses and drinks are not included, allowing you flexibility during your visit.

DAY-BY-DAY ITINERARY

Day 1 — Morning Departure to My Son Sanctuary & Ancient Champa Exploration

Transport: Private Car Transfer

Your morning begins with a convenient pick-up directly from your hotel in Hoi An at 8:00 AM. A comfortable private car will transport you on a scenic journey approximately 40 kilometers southwest, leading you into the tranquil valley where My Son Sanctuary is situated. This drive offers glimpses of the local Vietnamese countryside as you head towards a site of immense historical and cultural significance.

Upon arrival at My Son, you will step into a UNESCO World Heritage site that once served as the spiritual heart and political capital of the ancient Champa Kingdom. Your expert English-speaking guide will lead you through the remnants of red brick towers and sanctuaries. These structures, built between the 7th and 13th centuries, showcase the remarkable architectural prowess of the Cham people and their deep spiritual traditions.

Explore the various temple complexes, marveling at the intricate carvings and unique building techniques that have withstood centuries. Your guide will provide detailed explanations about the history, religious practices, and the significance of My Son in the broader context of Southeast Asian archaeology, drawing comparisons to sites like Angkor in Cambodia or Bagan in Myanmar. You'll gain a deeper understanding of the Champa civilization's influence in the region.

The tour concludes by noon, after which you will be transferred back to your hotel in Hoi An, leaving your afternoon free for further exploration or relaxation. This half-day excursion offers a profound insight into Vietnam's ancient past and its rich cultural heritage.
